

Together, we've helped hundreds of families heal
from the genocide.
Five more years will complete our mission.

Established in 2007, Foundation Rwanda, in partnership with Survivors Fund (SURF), has been working to transform the lives of second-generation survivors born of rape during and following the 1994 genocide. We empower students to be self-reliant through access to education and livelihoods and connect mothers to psychological, medical and microfinance support.

The Foundation Rwanda program is delivering more than just an education.

“Now that my child is attending school, and my child is first in her class, I see that the child was a blessing from God. It gives me such great happiness to be her mother.”

- Mukakimenyi, age 41

“It is important for me to study in order to have a good future and to help my mother”

- Aline, Senior 4, studying Mathematics, Economics & Geography. Her dream is to become a business woman.

Our goal, 20 years after the Rwandan genocide, is to ensure all students complete their schooling and/or access vocational training by 2019. This requires a budget of $875,430. This level of support will ensure Foundation Rwanda comes full circle, ensuring all students have completed schooling or vocational training and their mothers receive skills training, counseling and medical support, with support from our local partners Survivors Fund (SURF), Kanyarwanda, AVEGA Agahozo and Solace Ministries.

Please join us in supporting Foundation Rwanda's education program to drive our work full circle toward local ownership and sustainability by 2019. Your support will empower 773 students born from rape, some of the most vulnerable and marginalized young people in Rwanda, to complete their education and realize their skillsets and potential to earn an income and become contributing members of Rwandan society.

Foundation Rwanda is a program of Survivors Fund (SURF). Support for the program is tax-deductible in the US and UK.

As a sunset, limited-life foundation with a specific mission, Foundation Rwanda seeks to meet its funding goal in 2014 and to transfer the program by January 2015 to our local implementing NGOs with Survivors Fund (SURF Rwanda) as the main implementing partner.

Together, we will work to strengthen partner capacity, provide oversight and monitoring on grant disbursements and work to anticipate the evolving needs of the FR families. We have already begun planting seeds and will continue to urge our partners to seek local partnerships for educational and holistic support projects for FR families.

We will continue to empower mothers and students to advocate locally for Rwandan government support for:

- ☀ Scholarships for university for those exceptional students who pass the national exams and are eligible and eager for higher education.
- ☀ Income generating and vocational support amongst the young people who do not progress to university to ensure that they can be financially independent and self-sufficient. We hope that over time these students will be able to support their mothers.
- ☀ Psychosocial support for second-generation survivors. This support could address potential intergenerational inheritance of trauma as second-generation survivors begin to have children of their own, as well as ongoing issues that they may continue to face resulting from their own traumatic experiences.
